THE BRIDGE CLUB
by Don Worner

I'd like to tell you a short story
About a club in all its glory
The name of the club is QCBC
Has many members including me
There are many days in which you may Come along and have a play
It starts with Fridays for a beginner
Not long before you are a winner
You learn from two ladies both named Clare
All their knowledge to you they share
Then in time you do graduate
Sent to the big room and its fate
Where you meet people just like you
Some become friends quite a few

You need to be part of a team
You start to play the best you can
Some contracts you're in man oh man
Some times you make it that's for sure
And if you do you get a good score
Then there're times you should've made
But you led a heart instead of a spade
Some people play just to win
And when they do they do grin
But most are there to have a good time
This latter approach well that's mine
Although sometimes success we lack
We like it so much we all come back

Please Don't Do It, Dummy

Less than a year ago I wrote an article for our newsletter about the art of being a good dummy. I have now been asked to mention two bad habits in particular.

Correct procedure is for declarer to play a card from the dummy by properly naming the card. Dummy picks up the card only after it has been named. If necessary, declarer may pick up the desired card himself. Dummy may not help declarer by indicating a card to be played. The dummy should not assume that declarer will play the hand in the same brilliant way that s/he would play it and really must wait for instruction before reaching for a card.

A minor matter is about the dummy holding a hand on the table to remind declarer that the lead is from "the hand on the table". This is not endorsed in the Laws and is therefore not correct procedure. Our teachers do not encourage this practice. Dummy should remain alert as he may try to stop a declarer who looks to be about to lead from the wrong hand.
